

Orland Park Mayor Invites Hawks Fans To Sign Good Luck Boards

ORLAND PARK, IL - Mayor Dan McLaughlin is rallying the community's support of the Chicago Blackhawks quest for the Stanley Cup.

"We have thousands of Blackhawks fans in Orland Park and I thought it'd be neat if we sent the community's best wishes onto the team," McLaughlin said.

Fans are invited to visit the Village Hall to sign the 30 x 50 inch posters that will be delivered to the Blackhawks organization at the end of the week.

"Everyone is invited to stop in and sign the boards so the Hawks know that the Orland Park community is cheering them onto the Stanley Cup," the mayor said.

Orland Park's Frederick T. Owens Village Hall, at 14700 South Ravinia Avenue, is open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

-30-

PHOTO CAPTIONS

1. Orland Park Mayor Dan McLaughlin is the first to sign the good luck boards he had made for area Hawks fans to sign to wish the Chicago Blackhawks well in their quest for the Stanley Cup.

2. Valerie Molloy (left) and Patricia Stevens, both of Orland Park, sign the village's good luck boards for the Chicago Blackhawks at Orland Park's Frederick T. Owens Village Hall Village Hall.